Let Our People Go

The famed cartoonist Oliphant has drawings in the San Diego Evening Tribune a few days back which show Jerry Brown saying "It's the will of the people—I support the tax revolt." A toothy likeness of Jimmy Carter proclaims, "It's the will of the people—Ah support the tax revolt." A couple of fat, cigar-smoking lawmakers are shown saying "It's the will of the people—Congress will support the tax revolt."

The final figure is a silly-looking taxpayer with the figure "13" on his hat, with an old-fashioned musket in his hands asking "Whose revolution is this anyway?"

That fairly limns many of those who tried to defeat the passage of California's tax relief proposition by fair means or foul. Now most of these people are high on the band wagon.

It is true that there is confusion regarding the source of money for some of the services vital to an orderly society. But schools, fire and police departments will continue to operate. Some may have to trim some fat, but that was the intent of 13. Not to take this into consideration is defeating the will of the people and lawmakers and the many bureaus they have created, should be aware of this.

There isn't much to be optimistic about in this regard. The nation's governing spenders, if they really were getting the message, would have had optional plans against the possible passage of the proposition. Instead, they condemned it and inferred the supporters to be idiots for believing it would work even if it passed. Vice President Mondale labeled it "UnAmerican."

They are right about a single thing. It is a revolt. And the reason Washington is concerned is that the tax limitation philosophy is likely to spread to every state in the nation.

But as the lawmakers get on the tax limitation happiness road, it becomes apparent that they are as far out of sync with the determination of the "revolvers" as they had been before election day.

The next level of the revolt will be when the public rebels against the bureaus, agencies, commissions, departments and other ruling organizations which are creating so many wacky controls with unreasonable penalties attached, that a visitor from another planet would choose to view this sad comedy as we once viewed Laurel and Hardy comedies. The Swine Flu Caper stays prominently in the minds of many.

Where else in this universe could there be a once-respected government cabinet which was organized to improve the health, education and welfare of a nation have the cabinet's top officer announce that $2 billion a year of the taxpayers' funds are wasted by fraud, error and abuse in his department?

Well, that what Joseph Califano, secretary of the U.S. Health, Education and Welfare admitted earlier this year.

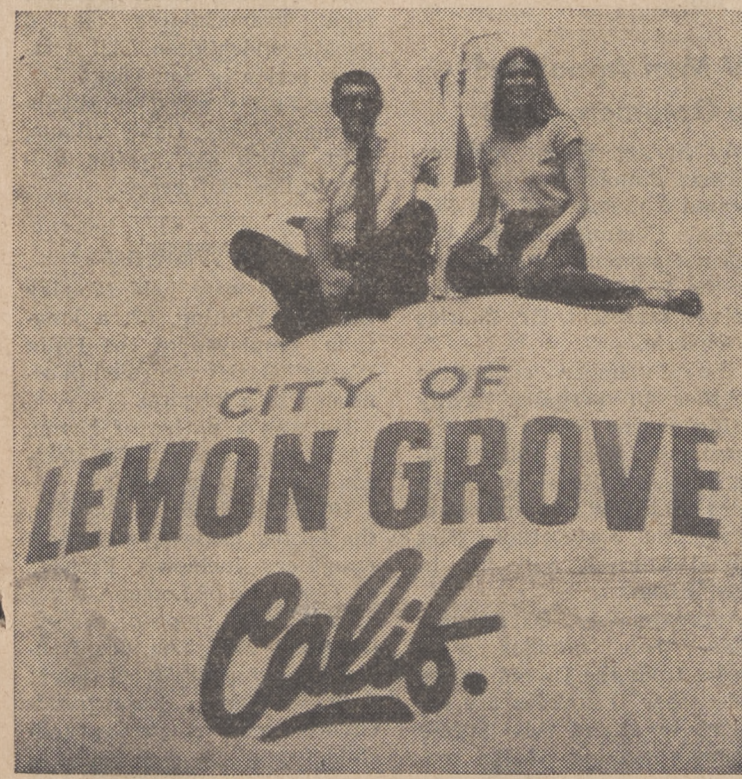

Where else could anyone form an agency (outside a totalitarian state) that could come onto the premises of any business firm and unilaterally declare whatever displeased it to be a hazard and lay a penalty on the firm forthwith? And without a trial! Well OSHA (Occupational Safety and Health Administration) did until a court stiffened its backbone and found for the people that everyone is entitled to due process. In Las Vegas on June 18 the Stewart Energy Systems of Idaho published a full page advertisement in the La Vegas Review-Journal on the subject "All legitimate businesses are continually being investigated by the government; why aren't criminals?" Good question.

Where else but in these myriad agencies could a Los Angeles woman claim to have 34 children and collect nearly $290,000 from 8 county welfare offices. An Associated Press story said that Barbara Jean Thompson, 33, drove away in her Porsche as welfare investigators and district attorney fraud investigators raided her $170,000 Ladera Heights home. A reporter added that she also owned a Cadillac and a Mustang.

In what other nation on this globe are criminals so fairly convicted only to be turned back onto the public to continue to perpetuate their criminal acts again and again?

The milking of citizens of their "sweat of the brow" earning to support wacky schemes that are designed only to perpetuate bureaus and make welfare existence generation after generation a way of life must be stopped.

That brings us to the next plateau of the revolt. The slogan of which could very well be, "We're free Americans. Let our people go!"

BIRTHDAY BY CANDLELIGHT — The City of Lemon Grove will celebrate its first birthday on Friday with a reception at the Community Center on School lane. The city becomes autonomous on that day.

Marking the event are Mayor Jim Dorman and Assistant City Clerk Wendy Forstrom perched atop the city's landmark lemon preparing to light a huge candle. The reception is 4-6 p.m. and is paid for by the July Committee — the city having no funds for such events.

LG Schools May Restore Some Cut Programs

Lemon Grove School District trustees Tuesday night adopted a tentative budget for 1978-79 which holds at least the hope that programs cut in the wake of Proposition 13 might be partially or wholly restored.

The $5.473 million budget, slightly revised from the tentative budget reviewed June 13, includes a $565,000 line item under contingency/reserves specially earmarked "program restoration."

What programs may or may not be restored is what the trustees must decide before they're required to adopt a final budget Aug. 3, and how much money comes in from the $5 billion state-surplus emergency aid bill will be the determining factor.

The entire contingency appropriation in the tentative budget, $822,158, reflects the beginning of state surplus aid, said Dr. Robert Sutton, district superintendent.

A new line item under state-derived income is "proposed state support," listing a predicted $1,075,285, somewhat less than the $1.4 million the district predicted before the June 6 election it would lose to the effects of Proposition 13.

Trustees have already eliminated summer school for this year and bus transportation for all but handicapped students in the fall, but board president Henry Reinecke told trustees "it appears we're going to be able to restore some things, but we can't tell what at this point."

"That's what we have to start working on now," Reinecke told fellow trustees and a large audience Tuesday night.

Another impact of the beginning of state aid is that some 60 to 70 classified employees won't have to worry about receiving pink slips at least through August.

The adopted tentative budget includes some $9,000 more earmarked for "classified salaries" which will keep the district from having to terminate anyone at least through August, Sutton said.

The budget reviewed June 13 would have required elimination of 9 certificated positions (7 already empty) and 60 to 70 classified. But since certificated personnel by law must be notified by March 15 if they're not going to be employed the following year, classified would have taken the brunt of the cuts.

Victims of Crime May Be Reimbursed

California residents who are victims of violent crime may be reimbursed for up to $23,000 of medical expenses, lost wages or rehabilitative services. Claims resulting from crimes occurring during this fiscal year must be filed by tomorrow. For assistance in filing an application contact the city Community Relations Department (CRD) at 239-9341.

Persons eligible to apply for financial reimbursement include the victim or the victim's dependents. If the victim is deceased, whoever assumes the medical or burial expenses may file. When the victim is a minor the application must be filed by a parent or guardian of the victim.

The maximum payments which may be approved for claims are $10,000 for medical or hospital expenses, $10,000 for loss of wages or support and $3,000 for job retraining or rehabilitative services. In addition, up to $500 may be granted for legal assistance and up to $1800 for funeral expenses.

Financial compensation received by the applicant from other sources proportionately affects the amount of reimbursement which may be awarded through this program.

Death of CPO Seen by Mills

Legislation (SB 1746) by Senate President Pro Tem James R. Mills, D-San Diego, abolishing the Comprehensive Planning Organization (CPO) of San Diego County has been approved by the Senate 23-1 and sent to the Assembly.

Mills told the Senate that the planning duplication of CPO and the county "serves only to raise the cost of government."

"I believe these responsibilities should be assigned to an elected body which represents all San Diegans and which deals with a variety of area-wide issues on a daily basis. The Board of Supervisors is the only such body in San Diego," he said.

He stressed that local municipalities in San Diego County would be represented by membership on an advisory committee to the board.

Mills pointed out that the growing importance of such issues of water and air quality maintenance require that they be regulated by the board.

Effective February 1, 1979, SB 1746 would turn CPO's duties over to the County of San Diego which with the cities would be the only agency authorized to deal with regional or area-wide planning.

Petitions Handed CoC To End Broadway Curbs

The Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce at its Thursday meeting became the starting point for a bid to remove the traffic control curbs on Broadway between Imperial and Grove in Lemon Grove. The curbs separate the parking area from the highway.

It came in a petition aimed eventually for the L.G. city council. Originated by Vito Siragusa, operator of Leone's Italian Restaurant at 7834 Broadway, the petition told of the injury to business and of the accidents the curbs are creating. The petition carried the signatures of the several adjacent to Leone's signed the petition. He said the control dividers do not contribute to safety. "They cause accidents," he said. "Many come from drivers backing up to get to the outlet."

Siragusa said that the controls actually jeopardizes the safety of those using customer parking. "I have contacted most of the business firms around me and they want it (the controls) removed. It restricts business because of the inconvenience."

He noted that restricted business is costly to the City of Lemon Grove because sales a matter of controversy since their installation by the County. Broadway had a high traffic accident rate and the traffic controls alleviated some of them. But it brought continual complaints from business people as well as the public because of the added parking inconvenience.

The major problem stems from the fact that the area used for parking is part of the property it fronts. As privately owned land it has disadvantages as well as advantages. An advantage is that no parking meters may be installed unless property owners business firm operators on either side of the restaurant.

Chamber president Olin Thompson handed the petitions with about 50 signatures to board member Howard Coberly of Mobile Mufflers, 6935 North ave. Coberly is charged with making a study and giving his recommendation to the chamber. The chamber will probably be asked to refer it to city council or reject it altogether.

The concern for the curbs removal was heightened by a 2-car accident at the break in the curbs almost directly in front of Leone's.

There, a few days before the chamber meeting an auto driven by Glen Edward McKelvey, slammed into one driven by Lewis Martinez del Rio of S.D. according to California Highway Patrol records. He and his passenger, Edward Lawrence Reynoso of Spring Valley, were transported to Grossmont hospital both with back injuries.

Jim Potts, manager of the Pelican Cafe at 7828 Broadway, which will open in a few days said that the cafe, formerly La Rue's, might not have been purchased if the controls were to be permanent. "We were told by the sellers that they were to be taken out."

The traffic curbs have been

Those who want to sign the petition may do so at the chamber office, 3415 Imperial, or express opinions to Coberly at 469-8827. He said he would make his recommendation to the chamber board at the next meeting — July 20.

TALKING IT OVER — Broadway businessmen, Pete Cavalcante and Vito Siragusa stand on traffic control curb which they claim is dangerous to drivers and injurious to business.

July 4th No Joy For Many Pets

The five day period surrounding the 4th of July can be a disaster for pets, particularly dogs and cats. Fire crackers and the bright fire-works displayed can literally strike terror in the hearts of dogs and cats. It is so terrifying to some pets that the owners must have them medicated on the 4th.

Dogs will have a tendency to break their chains, chew through ropes, run away and some go over fences and walls which they would never try to jump under ordinary circumstances. If they are house dogs they will go under beds or into closets to get away from the noise and lights.

It is particularly important not to allow your pet to run at large around the 4th. Unfortunately, there are those sadistic persons who enjoy attaching fire crackers to an animal and this has, over the years, resulted in the deaths of many dogs and cats.

Forums Dedicated To Tony Sonka

Local history forums being held by the Lemon Grove Historical Group will be dedicated to the memory of the late A. F. "Tony" Sonka, long-time Lemon Grove civic leader, at the last of the forums, scheduled for this evening.

The forum, covering "Churches and Related Activities" (presented by speaker Bill Lindsay), "Japanese Farms and Businesses" (Donald Estes) and "Clubs and Social Life" (Mary Vlach), will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Lemon Grove Junior High School Auditorium.

Marge Kezar, Sonka's niece, and local historian Agnes Osgood will show a book containing many of Sonka's photographs of Lemon Grove of a bygone era, Mrs. Osgood said.

Sales, Use Tax Monies Received

The City of Lemon Grove has received $143,765.84 and the County of San Diego $595,267.54 in the June allocation of state sales and use tax receipts.

The county also received $1,734,857.74 from the 1/4 percent county local transportation fund.

More than $134 million was distributed to cities and counties statewide.

Iris Sankey, member of the State Board of Equalization, said cities received a total of $85.2 million and counties $15.3 million, with counties also receiving $25 million from the county transportation fund.

An additional $8.4 million was received by the San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District and the Santa Clara County Transit District.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wolfe of 2518 Bancroft dr. in Spring Valley celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary last Thursday.

The couple was married June 22, 1928 in Greensburg, Pennsylvania, and moved to California in 1954.

They have 2 sons — Donald of Spring Valley and Richard of Phoenix, Arizona, as well as 4 grandchildren and 3 great grandchildren.

Wolfe is retired from Rohr Industries, Inc.

Composer Green to Conduct SD Symphony on 4th of July

The San Diego Symphony's first July 4th performance will be at 7 p.m. on the 4th at San Diego State's Aztec Bowl with guest star and conductor John Green. 14 times nominated, Green has won five music-related Oscars.

Though he was already earning money from music with his high school dance band in his native New York City at the age of 14, and continued to function professionally as a musician throughout his high school and college years, John Green "officially" became a musical pro on his graduation from Harvard at the age of 19 in June 1928 (with a degree in, of all things, economics!).

Thus 1978 is being celebrated as "The John Green 50th Anniversary Year." Today he is well known as composer, conductor, arranger and pianist in both the light and serious fields.

Becoming known as a leading songwriter during the 1930s, he has composed several all-time greats, including "I'm Yours," "Out of Nowhere," "I Cover the Waterfront," "The Song of Rain-tree County," and "Body and Soul."

His first published song, "Coquette," came out in the fall of his senior year at Harvard and was an international smash hit by January '28, remaining a standard to this day. In June of '73, Green was selected to the Song Writer's Hall of Fame. His works in the larger forms have been performed by major orchestras here and abroad.

Green's musical selections for the Symphony's Aztec Bowl Concert will include: "The Way We Were," "West Side Story," Green's "Raintree County," the concert overture to "My Fair Lady," "Stars and Stripes Forever," and "Strike Up the Band."

General admission tickets for the July 4th Aztec Bowl Concert are $4 each, with children under 12 being admitted for $1.50. The public is invited to come early and bring a picnic supper. The 7 p.m. concert will be followed by a July 4th fireworks spectacular.

Tickets are available at the Aztec Center Ticket Office at San Diego State University, The Symphony Office, and at all Ticketron Agencies.

Jewish Philosopher to Teach Seminar on Eastern Religions

One of the most distinguished philosophers of America and Israel will teach a week-end seminar in Asian religions at San Diego State University this summer.

Dr. Abraham Kaplan, who is currently Andrew Mellon Visiting Professor of Philosophy at California Institute of Technology, will teach the course called "Kaplan on Zen" on July 14 and 15. He will present a survey of the main ideas of Hinduism, Buddhism, Confucianism, Taoism and Zen, and discuss their bearings on contemporary Western society.

"These religions are important to us, not because there is something missing in our own, but to help us understand our own better," Kaplan said. "If you don't find a source of basic values or a means of coping with life's predicaments in your own religion, you won't find it elsewhere."

The internationally known philosopher and behavioral scientist has spent a great deal of time in Asia as a student of comparative religion with some of the leading Oriental philosophers and holy people.

"My own faith is Judaism with a Chassidic background," said Kaplan, "and I have found there are significant commonalities between Judaism and the Chinese religions. They share a certain realism and emphasis on the centrality of the family, the recognition of a divine order and on ceremony and ritual."

Kaplan is presently on sabbatical leave from the University of Haifa, Israel, where he has lived since 1972. He is president of the Israel Philosophical Association. He has previously served as visiting scholar or staff member at the RAND Graduate Institute, USC, Harvard, Columbia and other major universities.

He has received numerous fellowships, and honorary degrees, and was honored as one of America's "great teachers" in a Time Magazine cover story and on a national educational television program. He is the author of several well-known books, including "The New World of Philosophy" and his most recent work, "In Pursuit of Wisdom."

The course will be held from 5-10 p.m., Friday, July 14, and from 8 a.m.-5 p.m., Saturday, July 15, in Hepner Hall, Room 122. One unit of credit in Religious Studies is given for the tuition fee of $37. Formal acceptance to the University is not required. Further information may be obtained from the SDSU Summer Programs Office, 286-5152.

Seniors Can Get Tax, Rent Help

Senior citizens can obtain help with their claims for Senior Citizens Property Tax or Rent Assistance. A state representative will be in La Mesa at Adult Recreation Center, 8450 La Mesa Blvd. between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. tomorrow.

A temporary office will also be open at Wells Park, 1153 Madison Ave., in El Cajon between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. Friday, July 7.

Homeowners may be entitled to partial reimbursement of their property taxes if they were 62 or older and owned and lived in their own home on Dec. 31, 1977.

Renters may be qualified for refunds if they were 62 or older as of Dec. 31, 1977, and rented during 1977.

When visiting the temporary office, claimants should bring a copy of their 1977-78 property tax bill, income records, the forms they received in the mail and any other pertinent records. Renters would not have a property tax bill, but should bring all other information. Extra forms will be available in the office.

For information about either program, the Franchise Tax Board can be called toll-free by dialing (800) 852-5711.

Participants should bring a day pack with water and food. Carpooling is encouraged and the museum will assist. Minimum age is 13. The charge is $10. Call the museum for details. Reservations are required. 232-3821.

HomeFed Sponsors 'Evening at Pops'

Home Federal Savings and Loan Association of San Diego will sponsor the summer broadcast series of "Evening at Pops '78" on KPBS-TV, beginning on July 9.

The 12 one-hour programs will be broadcast Sundays at 8 p.m., with repeat showings Friday at 9 p.m. and Sunday at 11 a.m.

This is the 9th summer KPBS will air "Evening at Pops." Noted Boston conductor Arthur Fielder will star in the series. His scheduled guests for each program are: July 9, Henry Mancini; July 16, Lionel Hampton; July 23, Glen Campbell; July 30, Itzhak Perlman; Aug. 6, Tony Bennett; Aug. 13, Claude Kipnis; Aug. 20, Ben Vereen; Aug. 26, Angel Romero; Sept. 3, Jean Pierre Rampel; Sept. 10, Clamma Dale; Sept. 17, Noel Parenti; and Sept. 24, Steven De Groote.

Vibraphone Greats To Play on KPBS

Two legendary jazz greats—Milt "Bags" Jackson and Cal Tjader, will appear in a one-hour celebration of the vibraphone, scheduled to air on KPBS-TV, Channel 15 at 7:30 p.m. Saturday. The program will be simulcast in stereo on KPBS-FM, 89.5.

Milt Jackson, consistent winner of the "Down Beat" poll for best jazz vibraphonist for the past 30 years as "discovered" by Dizzy Gillespie in 1945 and played with Gillespie off and on until, in 1953, he joined the newly-formed Modern Jazz Quartet. He stayed with MJQ for 21 years but is now touring with his own quartet consisting of Art Hill, piano; Allen Jackson, bass; and Jimmy Smith, drums. Numbers performed for this simulcast include "You Are My Sunshine," "Sandra's Blues," "Mean to Me," and "Bag's Groove."

Caj Tjader is the classic case of the taken-for-granted jazz musician. He has played for 20 years in the shadow of Milt Jackson. Tjader began his career in 1949 when he joined Dave Brubeck. In 1951 he became famous as featured vibraphonist with the George Shearing Quintet. In 1954 Tjader formed his own group with the distinctive Latin/Jazz style that has made it one of the country's most popular jazz concert and recording groups.

Tjader appears with his studio recording quintet featuring Claire Fisher, piano; Pancho Sanchez, congas; Vince Lateano, drums; and Robert Fisher, bass. Selections played are "Green Dolphin Street," "Tangerine," "Black Orpheus," and "Soul Sauce."

There's An Answer

by Norman Vincent Peale and Ruth Stafford Peale

A funny feeling

Q. I get a funny feeling in my chest, and it leaves me so frightened. I feel something bad is going to happen—like I'm going to die. The doctor says there's not one thing wrong with me. I am 30 years old, have a good husband, a nice home, two boys we love. Everyone says I am happy but I keep getting these bad feelings. Try to understand and help me.

A. Not being medical doctors, it is hardly proper for us to comment on "a funny feeling in your chest." But since your doctor says there is nothing wrong with you, we can only assume that the problem is your mental attitude and that you are victimized by an irrational fear.

To feel better, put your chest feelings in the hands of the Lord and leave it to Him to take care of you. Do this and in all likelihood those feelings will pass away. If they don't consult a second doctor.

We have a booklet, "Healing — for Loved Ones and for You," published this year, that has helped many with questions pertaining to health, and a copy of it is on its way to you. Anyone wanting a free copy may write to us in care of Box 500, Pawling, NY 12564.

The 3-member committee certifies all delegates having voting power within the national association's policy-making body, its House of Delegates, which will be in session during the association's 81st annual Congress, July 2-8, in New Orleans.

Need to get away

Q. I married at age 16, the first offer I got. My dad beat us and my mother. He threatened us with knives and guns. He left scars, both physical and mental, on all of us. So I married someone I never loved and have never even respected. He has always abused me mentally, and he gets worse and worse. He belittles me for my Christian faith. We have 4 children, and one is still at home and needs me. Oh, God, take her and me home together now.

A. Your letter indicates you are a practicing Christian. Despite the fact that you had it tough with a child with beatings, and now mental beatings, you can employ your Christian attitudes to correct your present situation.

Instead of constantly sending out thoughts that you want to end your life and that of your daughter, as well as thoughts of ill will toward your husband, reverse your mental processes and start deliberately filling your home with the powerful thoughts of love and happiness.

You may object that you can't think that way because you don't feel that way. On the contrary, if you learn to think that way, you and your husband can very well, in time, find a new relationship emerging from these new and positive attitudes.

Troubled Teenager

Q. Can you help me help my troubled teenager daughter? She is 16 years old, active in church, top student in her class, but has no friends, is bitter and has hate in her heart for other students. She was 7 when her father and I divorced. She loves him but feels she was "used" by him. He is married for the fourth time at age 39. She is close to my present husband, and the home situation is excellent. Nevertheless, she has become worse in her hateful feelings.

A. Your daughter has been psychologically wounded and therefore needs counseling. We suggest you consult a local pastor or priest for guidance in obtaining psychiatric help. Remember that the psychiatrist helps normal people to remain normal.

Naturally the girl has no friends, for bitterness and hatred repel others. Her mental relationship with her father needs to be clarified and understanding found.

If there is something you would like to ask Dr. and Mrs. Peale to discuss in this column, write to them in care of Box 500, Pawling, NY 12564.

This Week's RECIPE

Skewered Barbecued Pork

Barbecuing is one of America's most popular summertime activities. It's also one of the easiest and most enjoyable ways to cook. This recipe is practically a complete meal of skewered meat and vegetables that are cooked and served together.

Whenever cooking pork, however, it is vital that it be thoroughly done. Particular care should be taken when cooking pork on the barbecue grill.

Serve those pork kebabs with rice and a salad. Drink iced tea, beer, a chilled chablis or a cooled Gamay Beaujolais.

Skewered Barbecued Pork

4 pounds boneless pork,

lean, preferably shoulder,

cut into 1 1/2-inch cubes

4 bay leaves

1 teaspoon oregano

1 teaspoon basil

2 cloves garlic, finely

minced

Salt and pepper to taste

2 tablespoons lemon juice

1 cup dry white wine

1/2 cup vegetable oil, preferably olive or peanut

24 cherry tomatoes

24 1 1/2-inch squares of green

or red pepper

24 1 1/2-inch squares of onion

Several thousand dollars worth of prizes will go to the winner and she will attend various other nude pageants throughout the nation as Miss Galaxy.

The public may attend pageant. An admission charge is made.

Show of India TV Show Topic

"Star of India: Iron Lady of the Seas," a two-time Emmy Award winning documentary produced in San Diego by KPBS, Channel 15, is airing nationally, and in San Diego 10 p.m. Monday.

The documentary chronicles the 114-year history of the oldest iron-hulled merchant ship afloat. The ship was launched in 1863 from the Isle of Man, England and sailed around the world 21 times, then spent a quarter century working the Alaskan salmon trade out of San Francisco. After making her last voyage as a merchant ship in 1923, she was left to decay in the San Diego harbor until serious restoration efforts began in the early 1960's.

The program dramatizes the old sailing ship's hazardous life at sea through the use of authentic historical photographs and actual film footage. Also documented is her painstaking restoration, which took more than 15 years to accomplish.

The hard work, love and devotion of those who fought to save this unique square rigger were climaxed in her triumphant July 4 Bicentennial sailing off the coast of San Diego. The Star of India is now a living tribute to all the tall ships that were her sisters.

"Star of India: Iron Lady of the Seas" was produced, directed and edited by Wayne Smith of KPBS. The film received two local Emmy Awards: one for directing and one for the best Cultural/Historical special. Narration was provided by actor Aaron Fletcher. This program, produced by KPBS-TV, was partially funded by Jane and Norman Neely.

The program will repeat locally next Thursday at 11:30 p.m.

United Way Organizations Increase Summer Programs

LOCAL STUDENT HONORED — Mt. Miguel High School senior Nikki Hansell accepts a medallion from Sally DeLong of Central Federal Savings and Loan Association during the 21st annual outstanding student awards banquet sponsored by the Savings and Loan Clearing Association of San Diego county. In addition to the medallion, she received a $100 cash award in recognition of her scholastic achievement, civic responsibility and school leadership. A total of 48 graduating seniors were honored at the banquet.

Padres Face 19 Games Away From San Diego

The old phrase concerning turnout being fair play will come into evidence in the next three weeks as the San Diego Padres move directly from a lengthy 19-game homestand and into an equally lengthy 19-game road trip.

To prepare for the swing the Padres will be idle today before beginning a grueling stretch of playing 12 games in 10 days against key opponents within the National League's Western Division.

The trip will actually begin on Friday with the Padres opening a four-game series with the Houston Astros. The two clubs will clash in single games on Friday and Sunday with a doubleheader slated for Saturday in the famed Astrodome.

Then, the Padres will swing back to the West Coast for four straight single outings against the frontrunning San Francisco Giants, without a doubt the surprise club in the majors thus far. The Giants have been running on top or near the top of the Western Division from virtually the opening gun. Those four contests will carry the Padres from Monday, July 3 through Thursday, July 6.

Completing the first half of the 19-game streak will be four meetings with the Atlanta Braves in the Georgia capitol, Friday through Sunday, July 7-9. Like the Houston road series, the Padres will have single games on Friday and Sunday with a twin bill slated for Saturday.

The opening half of the swing will feature a fairly heavy television slate for the Padres as four of the contests will be carried live back to San Diego on TV-6.

The schedule calls for the first game of the July 1 doubleheader against the Astros

ON YOUR MARK — A cuddly hamster tries out a "racing wheel" to be used in the Hamster Derby, which will take place at 1 p.m. Saturday, July 8, at Fins N' Feathers Pet Shop in Lemon Grove. All proceeds from the event will benefit the Humane Society of San Diego.

Hamster Derby Set at LG Pet Shop

It may not prove to be as exciting as the Triple Crown, but some young local Steve Cauten may "jockey" a speedy-but-cuddly hamster to a blazing photofinish in a "Hamster Derby" to be held Saturday, July 8 at Lemon Grove's Fins N' Feathers Pet Shop.

The derby, with all proceeds to go to the San Diego County Humane Society, will begin at 1 p.m. at the shop, located at 1975 Broadway in Lemon Grove.

For a $2 donation entrants will receive a hamster which they can take home after the derby, said "Ace" Edwards, shop manager and a member of the Humane Society board of directors.

Individuals may pick up hamsters beginning next Monday and take them home for a "training" period before the event, he added.

The derby will take place on a 5-lane, 9-meter raised platform, and hamsters will compete in "racing wheels" which are normally used to exercise hamsters.

Horse is 'Bel' At HollyPark

For the racing fan who always has dreamed of owning his own horse, Tuesday, the Fourth of July, is the day to be at Hollypark.

Some lucky patron that day will become a thoroughbred owner in Hollypark's first "Golden Opportunity Sweepstakes."

A unique promotion, the event will climax a holiday weekend of racing which will feature stakes competition 5 straight days, today through Tuesday, July 4.

Free to enter, the "Sweepstakes" will be one of the 9 regular wagering races on the holiday program. A special drawing will be conducted at 1 p.m., at which time a finalist will be selected for every starter in the Golden Opportunity Sweepstakes.

The winning horse then will become the property of the fan whom he represented. In addition to the thoroughbred, whose value will be approximately $20,000, Hollypark will contribute up to $2,000 in training fees.

Gates to Hollypark on the Fourth of July will open one half hour earlier than usual, at 11 a.m., and 12:30 p.m. is the deadline for submitting entry blanks.

Miniature Horse Contest July 16

SAN DIEGO COUNTRY ESTATES—The national miniature horse championship will be determined on the west coast for the first time Sunday, July 16 at this resort community's International Equestrian Center.

Some 100 entries are expected to compete in 15 classes under the sponsorship of the International Miniature Horse Registry and San Diego Country Estates.

As a special feature, for the first time champions from all classes will meet in a competition to determine the miniatures' "champion of champions." More than $4,000 in prize money will be at stake in the championship show, which is free to the public, starting at 1 p.m.

Miniatures, including a variety of breeds, can measure no more than 32 inches from withers to the ground. Judging is based on conformation as well as size.

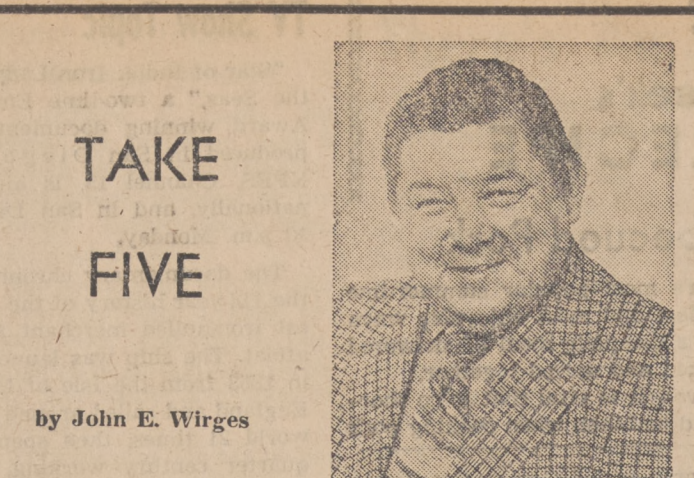

Among the contenders from throughout the country will be perhaps the most widely-recognized miniature, TD, tiny mascot of the Denver Broncos' Super Bowl football team.

Site of the competition will be the infield of the International Equestrian Center. Spectators will have the opportunity of viewing the miniatures at close range throughout the day.

San Diego County Estates is 4 miles east of Ramona and is reached on Highway 67 from San Diego.

TAKE FIVE

Now that the voice of the people has been thundered from the mountain side and Proposition 13 is the law of the land it will be a little tougher for politicians to fulfill their apparent primary goal in office . . . spending taxpayers money to get themselves reelected.

It will be harder, but not impossible. Uniquely, office holders are survivors. They'll find a way. Even if it means they'll have to change sides in mid-river and change the tunes coming out of both sides of their mouths.

Those are, of course, easy enough skills for those who make a career living on the public's backside. And they are mastered in short order at every level of government from school administration through the federal bureaucracy.

What is really amazing, in this day and age of revolt-minded tax payers, is that some of the dunder-heads in public places haven't been able to read the hand writing on the bulkhead.

As easy to see the word "NO" on spending across the pages of Prop-13, was the warning not to mess with essential services like the cops, the firemen and the schools.

Prop-13 went through like a buzz-saw, but it must be the nature of some folks in public office and public places to be terminally stupid.

The first thing you heard was how they were going to sue the proposition for passing. Which brings up the question, "How do you sue the will of the people?"

Then you heard how some civic leaders were gonna cut out the fire departments, or knock off para-medics, or greatly reduce the number of working residents in the cop-shops.

School bureaucrats pointed fingers and foretold of how all sports' programs had to go down the drain, programs cut to the bone and across the board reduction in staffing.

Why is it that every time someone mentions a cut in the school budget, school administrators claim they'll have to eliminate athletics?

Let's look at things the way they really are. You can't eliminate fire fighters and cops from programs where they have been the whipping boy all along. Every turkey in office makes a point of trying to cut the cops or fire department when politicking to taxpayers.

And as for the school politicians? Well, what can you say? They are fully as bad as those elected to office.

For one thing, athletics in a well run and supported by the student body school does not need tax money to operate. Football and basketball gate receipts and As sociated Student Body fees can cover everything except coaches salaries. Some schools even make enough for coaching fees.

In all honesty, some schools might have to cut back in some sports, but only because students at that school DO NOT support their own programs.

And as for cutbacks across the board? Why? There is more than enough money to provide teachers to relatively small classes, in every level of education across the state.

The trouble is, an awful lot of those teachers don't have any classes to teach. They're busy administrating. Or paper shuffling.

Before one class room teacher is dropped from the pay roll in the name of economy, or one class size increased, before the same God, let's have every certified teacher in every school system in the state teach a class. Be he (or she) principal or superintendent, administrator or counselor, if they are certified as a teacher, and paid at that scale, let them stand in front of students and teach . . . at least once a week.

Everybody can live with Proposition 13. It's just that some folks are going to have to go back to work. And ain't that a shame.

Cajon Speedway Programs Twinbill for Weekend

Cajon Speedway will have its second twinbill of the season this weekend as the 3/8 mile paved Gillespie Field oval salutes the Fourth of July.

Saturday, the popular super stocks, which have drawn over 40,000 fans to the first 10 races of the season, will be featured. Sunday evening the U.S. Racing Club midgets will swing back into action for the third show of the season and all seating for the Midget show will be on the Eastside stands.

Race time both nights will be at 8 with qualifying set for 6:30.

In the super stocks, a 75-lap main event will be featured. The extra laps should give drivers starting in the back of the 22 car field extra time to make their move. Only once in the last 5 races has a driver been able to move from the second half of the field into victory lane and that came in the 75-lapper on Memorial Day weekend.

In addition to the main event, additional events will include a 30-lap B main, 4 8-heats and 2 4-lap trophy dashes.

Point leader Ron Esau again figures to be the driver to beat in the feature, having won last week and also taking home the previous extra lap race this season. Esau has a comfortable point lead over his nearest rival, Gary Crossland, also of Lakeside.

In the midgets, the drivers will be out to stop the drive of Roy Cook Jr. The Rancho Cucamonga driver won the last show at Cajon 3 weeks ago after setting a new one-lap qualifying mark. Cook has won 8 of the first 11 races in the small cars this year. Challenging will be Larry Patton who won at Cajon in the May 28 races.

Last week Ron Esau had to outlast all the elements to win the 40-lap super stock main event at Cajon Speedway Saturday night.

As 3,703 fans looked on Esau, who is well on his way to the 1978 track title, edged 5-time champion Pat McIntyre of Spring Valley by a single length to take home his third main event of the season. The feature was slowed several times by accidents.

Despite all the trouble Esau set a new 40-lap standard during the race. Esau's time of 12:04:68 knocked slightly more than a second off McIntyre's 3-year-old mark of 12:05:91.

Finishing third in the accident-ridden event was up-and-coming Steve Nelson of Spring Valley while Carl Simon of La Mesa took fourth — his best finish since 1974.

Padres on Tv 6

Padre road games to be televised live on TV-6 include a pair with the Astros at Houston and a contest with the Giants at San Francisco.

The Astros games are scheduled Saturday at 3:30 p.m. and Sunday at noon, with the July 4th telecast from Candlestick Park set at 1 p.m.

Biggest Purse At SB Speedway

It's the biggest purse of the year and they'll be battling for double points.

So, it's easy to see why there should be a big entry list for Saturday night's $1,500 Firecracker doubleheader stock car program on the quarter mile dirt oval at South Bay Park's Speedway 117.

Gates open at 6 p.m. with time trials set for 7 p.m. and the first of two trophy dashes set to begin at 8 p.m. The street stockers will engage in a 25-lap feature while the supers will go 400 laps.

The street stock skirmish is even tighter and a solid win by any of 7 drivers could change the standings considerably. All are within 70 points of each other.

The program will consist of trophy dashes, heats and main events for the two divisions.

Rabbit is Award

San Diego soccer fans have an opportunity to win a 1978 Volkswagen Rabbit during the Socker's halftime "Shootouts" at home games, July 14, 16, 19 and August 3 and 6.

In order to compete in the shootout fans should register with their local Volkswagen dealers. 3 contestants will be chosen to compete for each home game with the object to kick a soccer ball through a hole in a board. John Factor VW in Lemon Grove is one of the local VW dealers participating in the contest.

Tj Bullfight Season Opens

A cartel of the first category has been lined up for Sunday in the downtown bullring, El Torea de Tijuana.

Two giants of bullfighting—Eloy Cavazos and Mariano Ramos—head a holiday program that includes the stylish David Silvetti.

Beginning at 4 p.m. each of the 3 face two bulls from one of Mexico's premier ranches, San Miguel de Mimihahuapam.

It will be the first of 12 consecutive Sundays on which a corrida will be staged in Tijuana. Each starts at 4 p.m.

The long-time star, Cavazos, 27, of Monterrey and the technically precise Ramos, 25, of Mexico City will be making 1978 Tijuana debuts.

Cavazos, ebullient and daring and standing only five feet, two inches, owns two taurine records which may never be approached. He set them both last year, fighting 4 times in one day and for the year participating in 126 corridas in Mexico.

No torero had ever fought that frequently in one country. The previous record was 121 corridas fought in Spain by Manuel Benitez (El Corcobes) during 1970.

Eloy's quadruple was on October 2. Starting early in the morning and traveling by car, he participated in corridas at San Luis de La Paz, Dolores Hidalgo, San Miguel de Allende, and Celaya, four small cities in central Mexico. From the eight bulls he faced he won 2 tails and 14 ears.

Afterwards, Cavazos commented: "I did it so my children would be proud of me and know that with effort you can accomplish something." And he added: "I could have fought a 5th one at Irapuato at 9 p.m."

In Tijuana last summer Cavazos won 6 ears in 6 bullfights. Ramos won 4 ears and one tail in 4 corridas.

Ramos has many followers who feel he is Mexico's best bullfighter. Since becoming a full-fledged matador on November 20, 1971, he has enjoyed numerous fine afternoons in Latin America's leading plazas, winning trophies as the star of numerous fairs.

One of the most recent of these was in January at the big fair in Cali, Colombia, where he won 7 ears from 4 bulls.

Silvetti, 22, of Mexico City helped to open the Tijuana season May 7 and was superb with his second bull. He became a full-fledged matador just November 20, and is regarded as a future star. His father, Juanito, who last fought in 1967, was a top performer noted for his art and knowledge. His grandfather, Juan Silvetti, was known for his courage, and he probably is Mexico's all-time most-popular bullfighter.

Friday Fights Feature Town's Top Lighthweights

El Cajon's veteran light heavyweight Ronny Wilson, with fine credentials—75-23-5—meets an upcoming young scrapper, Friday at the Coliseum in a 10 round main go.

His antagonist is Lenny Provo, a Marine sergeant who keeps himself in excellent trim and who is former all-service champion.

He is new in the professional game—only 7 fights. But he won them all, 2 by knockouts.

Wilson is on a comeback trail having semi retired last year. His work is good, too. Wilson has won the last 3 in a row.

Bert Lee, the welterweight Pride of Dulzura, meets Cisco

Ortega for the second time. Ortega decked him the first time. Lee wants revenge.

Dave Wynn returns to the wars in a 6-round heavyweight scrap. He took a hiatus after suffering a knockout earlier this year. He meets Elliott Bryant for 6 rounds—or less.

In a 4-round lightweight match, Lalo Hernandez and Joel Carranza will mix it.

Mike Hickman, the surfer, returns under a bright new name: Micha True. He fights middleweight Danny Mancini for 4 rounds—or less.

The Coliseum is at 15th and E. streets downtown and the gong rings at 8:15.

Spring Valley Miss Favored In Junior Golf Tournament

San Diego County boys and girls will again play a prominent role in the Optimist Junior World golf championships when some 650 entries from all over the world compete at 4 local courses on July 11-14.

Oceanside's Carol Hogan and La Mesa's Ed Cuff led 15-17 year qualifying held on June 19 at San Diego Country Club with sparkling scores of 81 and 72 respectively.

Spring Valley's Sharon Barrett, who has won her division twice and never finished worse than fourth in 5 years of Junior World play, will be another favorite in the oldest girls' class. As a fourth place finisher last year she was exempt from qualifying.

Other county boys qualifying with low scores were Horace Brown and Ken Earle, both San Diego, who had 73's and Ernie Gonzalez, Chula Vista, with Robert Powell, San Diego, both having 74.

Jackie Nicoletti, San Diego, another former winner here, had an 85 for runner-up honors in qualifying and the pair of Suzy Schultz, Coronado, and Darla Zolina, San Diego, were next with 88.

Tracey Earle, San Diego, fourth last year in the 11-12 year class, returns to compete in the girls 13-14 division.

Former Junior World division winners coming from other areas include Angela Langkilde, Samoa; Heather Farr, Phoenix; Barrett Johnson, Indio; Joey Penafior, Hollister; Kenny Flint, Santa Maria; and William Mayfair, Phoenix.

Sites of play will be Torrey Pines for 15-17, Balboa Park for 13-14, Mission Bay for 11-12 and Presidio Hills for 10 and under.

S'Western Student Wins Architecture Prize

Jerry Silva, a student at Southwestern College, won first place in the San Diego Lumber and Wood Products Association's 1978 Architectural Design Competition.

The annual competition, open to architectural students attending colleges in San Diego County, provides the opportunity for students to develop their creative abilities, and to explore and achieve a high level of design excellence utilizing wood products.

Southwestern College has won first place in the Design Competition for the last five years. The project this year was to design a single family residence which provides an exciting and functional place to both live and work for a young married couple, not planning to have children, who are both working artists.

Silva received a $300 cash award for his winning design. He is a sophomore at Southwestern majoring in architecture, and plans to continue his education at the California Polytechnic University in the fall.

Southwestern College offers a full range of courses leading to a two-year Associate in Science degree in Architectural Technology.

Wrestling Picnic Set for Coliseum July Fourth

A wrestling picnic on July 4th is scheduled for Tuesday at the San Diego Coliseum.

Said promoter Danny Millsap, "We're starting the fights an hour later—at 8:30—Tuesday to give folks a chance to finish their barbecues and trips to the beach."

In addition to wrestling the first 200 kids get free ice cream. There will be door prize drawing for big bags of groceries—10 in all. Adults will be able to get beer for a quarter and soft drinks for kids are also 2 bits.

About the matches. There'll be 5 bouts.

Twin Mexican Death Matches will tie Black Gorman to Great Goliath. Roddy Piper is laced to Carlos Mata. In these bouts gladiators are tied to the ends of a 6 foot rope. There is no escape.

In an American Title Tag Match, Moondog Mayne puts his title on the line with Hector Guererro the challenger. The loser will leave town.

In two other finger-mail-bits Gana Singh of India meets Park Choo and Professor Ito goes against the Great Tonga.

The Coliseum is at 15th and E streets in downtown San Diego.

Ice Skating Jr. Olympics Set July 6-9

The 1978 Junior Olympics for Ice Skaters will be held at the La Mesa House of Ice July 6 through 9.

It is being hosted by the Harbor Figure Skating club and sponsored by Coca Cola. It is sanctioned by U.S.F.S.A.

The event has grown so big, according to Ron Williams and Arline Young, who chair the games, that it will be taken over next year by the U.S. Figure Skating Assn.

Events begin at 6 a.m., each day except Sunday it's off at 10 a.m. Competition runs until well after 9 p.m. except Sunday when it is wrapped up about 5 p.m.

Management Succession

Second of 2 parts

You can begin by engaging an attorney who is experienced in estate planning. Seek advice from a business consultant. He should be a person who has experience in your type of business and should have no personal interest, a person who can be totally objective. (We will expand on consultants at a later date.)

Talk with people at financial institutions, such as banks. Heed their advice about trusts, investments and what you can do to minimize your tax burden to your estate.

Evaluation of the persons in your organization who could succeed you is continuing the positive action plan. Think about the people who may leave your employ within a short period and the ones who are likely to stay longer. Who are the ones who are doing the kind of work at the management level that merit promotion? Also, look for non-management people who have management potential.

If you decide that there is a person that you could trust to succeed you, then there follows a period of on-the-job training. Delegate authority and make him responsible.

Rotation of duties for the person you select will provide a broader base of experience toward the day of assumption of full managerial duties.

There may be a shortcoming in the one-man succession plan. The person you select may not fulfill his promise or your desires.

An alternative to the one-man plan is to organize a management team. In this way, the skills of the individuals are combined for common objectives. Another benefit of the "team" plan is that you are able to observe performances at a very close range which will enhance your ability to make prudent judgments.

Management succession will work better if you provide the means for success. Allow your choice the same freedom you would want under the same circumstances.

The higher a manager progresses in a company, the more important the role of catalyst becomes—that of getting things done through others.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT—Why can't people afford to buy new houses? Home prices increased 10% a year since '74. Personal income—up a little over 12% during the same time.

Average sales price for NEW housing in S.D. is more than 25% over the Nat'l average of $59,000.

AMERICANS OWNED more than half of the telephones in the world. Good news for KEOUGH and IRA account people—both plans now earn 8%. If you have one of the old accounts—you must open a brand new one to get the benefits.

YOU MAY HAVE missed this—Calif. Supreme Court, in a recent decision, says it is now OK for CITIES to impose a TAX on local workers' WAGES.

BofA Reduces Payments On Real Estate Loans

The Bank of America has announced a 55 per cent reduction in the monthly amounts it collects from most real estate loan customers for property tax payments.

The bank said it is taking the action as a result of the passage of Proposition 13. The reduction will be reflected in August billings, which will be mailed to customers in late July.

Real estate loan customers who have the bank accumulate Tax and Insurance Reserves (TIRs) also known as impound accounts) each month pay estimated costs of taxes, any special assessments, and house insurance. The reduction will apply only to tax portions of TIR payments, the bank said.

The action will lower TIR payments for approximately 22,800 Veterans Administration (VA) home loans, almost all of the approximately 80,000 Federal Housing Administration (FHA) loans, and about 60,000 (or 35 per cent) of the conventional loans owned or serviced by the bank.

The bank arrived at a 55 per cent reduction after analyzing the impact of Proposition 13 on its average residential loan and on the average pre-Proposition 13 tax rate in the state.

Customers who wish to continue to pay pre-Proposition 13 amounts for tax payments into their TIRs, on which interest is paid, will have an opportunity to do so, the bank said.

Barring any court decision rescinding the implementation of Proposition 13, the bank said it expects the 55 per cent reduction to hold through the rest of 1978. Further analysis will be made after the payment of the first installment of fiscal 1978-79 taxes.

UCSD Extension Offers Courses

Proposition 13 has not affected the summer programs of UC San Diego Extension. This applies to both courses for adult learners, and several new courses scheduled for children, according to UCSD Extension officials.

The summer school classes for children offered by UCSD Extension will be:

"An Art Workshop for Children," which will meet four Saturday mornings beginning July 8. (For children ages 9-12)

"Daytime Astronomy for Children 8-11 Years of Age," which will meet 9 a.m.-1 p.m. July 31 and Aug. 1.

"Adventure Incorporated for Children," with three days of on-the-grounds training in backpacking, orienteering, caving, climbing, etc. (July 31-Aug. 2) and two days actual wilderness experience in the Laguna Mountains (Aug. 3-4). (For children age 10-13).

These three classes will be held at the Children's School in Sorrento Valley, with fees ranging from $35 to $87. Another summer class for children is "Math Power for Young People 10-14," designed to give students a positive experience with mathematics in a laboratory setting on the UCSD campus.

Parents and children together will participate in a program Aug. 11-13 on the UCSD campus titled "A Weekend for Families With Gifted Children."

SDSU Course to Explore Tuna-Porpoise Controversy

The fact that porpoise swim in the same schools with tuna is a problem to tuna fishers. Though the porpoise are useful in helping to locate the fish, federal law requires that the killing of porpoises be reduced.

San Diego, as capitol of the U.S. tuna industry and the home base of many of the world's leading marine ecologists, has been ardently involved in the tuna-dolphin controversy. New fishing techniques and net designs are helping the porpoises escape from the nets, however, and the tuna-porpoise problem appears to be nearing a solution.

Prospects for the future will be explored in a special weekend course offered July 21 and 22 by Summer Programs and the Economics Department at San Diego State University called "The Transient Tropical Tuna: The Status of the Fishing Industry." Coordinator for the course is SDSU Economics Department faculty member Dr. Virginia G. Flagg.

Harold Cary, General Manager of the United States Tuna Foundation, will present the fishing industry's response to the porpoise problem, while the conservationists' point of view will be represented by Wymberley Coerr, California Representative of the Defenders of Wildlife. Dr. William W. Fox, Jr. will explain the role of government in solving the problem.

Another problem plaguing the tuna industry is the question of who has the right to catch the fish. Many countries have implemented a 200-mile limit for fishing, and since a large proportion of tuna is caught within 200 miles of the coastlines between Mexico and Chile, this poses a serious problem for United States fishers.

Presenting background on the tropical tuna and the functions of the Inter-American Tropical Tuna Commission will be Dr. James Joseph, Director of Investigations of that organization. Background material on the economics of fisheries will be presented by Dr. Dennis King, Fisheries Economist with the National Marine Fisheries Services, and Dr. E. A. Keen, Professor of Geography at SDSU.

The eastern tropical Pacific tuna fishery was pioneered by Americans, but many other countries now participate in the fishery. In fact, the entry of vessels into the fishery has proceeded at such a rapid rate in recent years that competition for available fish is accelerating.

Fortunately, the quota established by the Inter-American Tropical Tuna Commission prevents over-fishing of yellowfin tuna, through this means the vessels must eventually discontinue fishing for yellowfin in the spring of the year.

But as more tuna seiners enter the fishery, all searching for the same limited resource, it becomes increasingly difficult for all of them to catch enough fish to remain profitable in their operations.

Participation of the United States in this tuna fishery will be presented by Gordon C. Broadhead, President of Living Marine Resources, Inc., who has had extensive experience in analyzing the tuna fleet. August Felando, General Manager of the American Tuna-boat Association, will explain some of the problems Americans encounter as they attempt to fish in the territorial waters of other countries.

Dr. Amin Zurar will discuss Latin American participation in the tuna fishery. Dr. Zurar is known to San Diegans from the years he spent here representing the Mexican government as Director of Fisheries in this region. He is now Director of Fisheries in Acapulco, Mexico.

In panel discussion, the speakers will explore solutions to the problems of tuna ownership and access.

Students taking the course will see films showing the fishing operations. The purse seiners are modern, highly mechanized pieces of equipment, and the crew working on the boats are highly skilled in operating the equipment while catching the tuna. If an appropriate vessel is in port, students will tour a tuna seiner.

The tuna course will take place from 4 p.m. to 9 p.m. on July 21 and from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on July 22 in the Recital Hall in the Music Building at the SDSU campus. Tuition fees for the one-unit course is $37, plus $5.50 student fees. For further information, call the Summer Programs Office at 286-5152.

Letters To The Editor

Signs Create Controversy

Dear Editor:

Chamber of Commerce president Olin Thompson phoned me last week to tell me that posters from my recent campaign for Board of Equalization were "all over town," that "they" had permitted me to leave them up only until the campaign, and demanding that I take them down or he would criticize me to the Board of Directors of the Chamber. He concluded by hanging-up the phone on me.

My signs are not "all over town." I had signs on the fire-damaged Cornet Store, and on an old shed at the west end of town, my son and I having put them up.

It is the owners of the Cornet Store and the shed who permitted them to remain up.

I offered to pay a couple of bucks to anyone on his staff to simply pull them down for me, being only 2x4 feet and attached with a few staples, that I was busy all day as an attorney in a downtown case and it might be a couple of weeks before I got out to Lemon Grove to do it myself.

My offer is still open, if the signs are still up, and I regret Mr. Thompson's exaggerations and intimidation. If no one will take them down for me, I

Teachers Say Keep G'mont Schools Shut

The Grossmont Education Association will not play a passive role in dismantling the excellent school district to which we have given our hopes and professional lives.

We will be meeting with representatives of the Grossmont Union High School District to strongly encourage the Board to adopt a resolution that postpones the opening of schools for 1978-79 until the state legislature restores funds lost by the passage of Proposition 13.

The Grossmont district has acted to continually maintain and improve its outstanding educational programs. Needless to say, Grossmont teachers are committed to nothing less for this community's children, because such programs must continue to have qualified, dedicated teachers who have the proper tools to meet their students' needs.

Obviously, we feel that substandard pay, reduced funds for supplies and cutbacks in staff cannot help but cripple the quality of instructional program that Grossmont teachers now offer.

We urge all responsible citizens to join us in contacting their representatives in Sacramento. The legislature must quickly respond to our needs for replacement funds in order to avoid the unpleasant aspect of overcrowded classrooms supervised by unqualified personnel this September.

The legislature and the governor have an obligation, because of their long-standing do-nothing history regarding property tax relief, to keep our schools open and our children's educational future safe. Had the legislature responded responsibly to the outcry for property tax relief in timely fashion, there would never have been a Jarvis-Gann initiative.

SDG&E Files Case For Higher Rates

San Diego Gas & Electric has filed new figures in the general rate case which it notified the Public Utilities Commission in January that it intended to file.

The application filed seeks $101 million plus $11.5 million to cover the cost of a PUC-ordered conservation program to which SDG&E has joined other utilities in filing a formal protest.

The protest came after the commission ordered the company to provide customers with loans for insulation at less than cost as well as give away water heater blankets and showerheads.

SDG&E said the order constitutes confiscation of company funds by regulation because it does not allow recovery of costs and that the free products program might violate federal anti-trust laws and thereby subject the company to prosecution.

The change in the $106.3 million originally announced in January results from the subtraction of $15.2 million granted in April plus the addition of the cost of terminating the Sundesert Nuclear Project and the anticipated sale and leaseback of Encina Unit 5 plus allowances for inflation.

If granted, the increase would raise the electric bill of the average residential customer using 500 kilowatt hours per month by $4.19, assuming a 240 kilowatt hour per month lifeline allowance.

The gas bill of the average residential customer who uses 70 therms per month and has a basic 26 therm lifeline allowance would go up $3.31. Residential gas customers with an 81 therm lifeline allowance and a 70 therm consumption, would find their monthly billings going up $3.58.

As it did in its January notification, the company points out that it must have rate relief at the beginning of 1979 in order to serve the needs of more than 80,000 new customers expected that year, continue the construction of San Onofre Units 2 and 3, repower Silvergate Unit 2, do further work on the development of geothermal power generation and build additional transmission and distribution facilities.

The steadily rising cost of providing utility services is being pushed upward by an expected increase in property taxes of $7.5 million by 1979 (38 percent), a $9 million increase in depreciation expense (38 percent), and a $57 million increase in wages, materials and services (50 percent).

SDG&E seeks to recover carrying costs on the Sundesert Nuclear Project plant site, which is being held for future use, in the amount of approximately $5.7 million. The company also seeks $3.7 million plus carrying costs to amortize non-site related Sundesert costs over a ten year period.

Included in increased 1979 operations expense is an annual lease payment of approximately $10 million in connection with the anticipated sale and leaseback of Encina Unit 5.

SDG&E's request is designed to produce a financial return on equity of approximately 15 percent, based on 1979 percent currently sought by costs of operation

Ask Your C.H.P.

C.H.P. Capt. C. M. Douglas

Last time Capt. Douglas discussed two-way left-turn lanes.

If you have a question, no matter how insignificant it may appear to you, ask it. It could save your life—or at least save you a citation.

Address your questions to this newspaper and allow several weeks for your question to appear.

This week's question: "What am I required to do if I'm involved in an auto accident?"

Capt. Douglas' answer: If there are no injuries, you must stop at the scene and locate and notify the owner or driver of the property or vehicle damaged.

If this is not possible, you must leave in a conspicuous place on the vehicle or other property damaged a written notice giving the name and address of the driver and of the owner of your vehicle and a statement of the circumstances of the accident.

Also, without unnecessary delay notify the police department of the city where the accident occurred or, if it occurred in unincorporated territory, the local CHP office.

If there are injuries, you must give the registration number of your vehicle, give reasonable assistance to the injured and, upon request of the injured party, exhibit your driver's license.

In addition, within 24 hours of the accident you must make a written report of the accident, or see to it that one is made, to the CHP or other police agency having jurisdiction. This is usually accomplished by the CHP or other police officer writing an accident investigation report at the scene.

In addition to any CHP or other police report, if any accident results in injury or death and/or damage to any vehicle (including your own) of more than $250, you must complete a Department of Motor Vehicles form SR-1, statement of financial responsibility, and send it to the DMV in Sacramento within 15 days of the accident. This form is available at any DMV or CHP office.

Salk Professor Gets Grant For Research on CF Cure

Wayne T. Shier, Ph.D., Assistant Research Professor in Cell Biology at Salk Institute, has been awarded a research grant from the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, a national voluntary health agency.

The award, totaling $5,512, will support Dr. Shier's study titled "Phospholipase Activity & Prostaglandin Synthesis in CF Fibroblasts."

"Dr. Shier's research will help speed the progress toward a cure or control for cystic fibrosis," said Mrs. Evelyn Buchanan, president of the San Diego and Inland Empire Chapter of the CF Foundation. A lung-damaging disease which also can affect the digestive system, cystic fibrosis takes more children's lives in the United States than any other genetic disorder.

Through its annual "Breath of Life" campaign, the San Diego and Inland Empire Chapter helps to support clinical care and education programs as well as the research conducted by Dr. Shier and 70 other scientists throughout the world.

Fewer Rules for Pay TV Asked by Van Deerlin

Cable TV systems serving more than 200,000 San Diego County households would be unleashed—at least as far as the federal government was concerned—under the Communications Law rewrite bill proposed by Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin, of San Diego.

Among rules to be jettisoned are those limiting the number of out-of-town TV signals cable companies may offer their subscribers.

Van Deerlin also would throw out the so-called "syndicated exclusively" rule, a source of great irritation to many viewers. This is the regulation which in San Diego requires cable channels to black out imported syndicated programs that are also aired by a local station, even if at a different time.

The rewrite bill, introduced last week, is intended as the first thorough overhaul of basic federal communications laws in 44 years. Van Deerlin is chairman of the House Communications Subcommittee which will consider the legislation.

Van Deerlin discussed what he had in mind for cable TV in a weekend speech to the Florida Cable Television Assn. He said it should be up to local governments, not some federal agency, to set any ground rules for the cable systems.

"We are talking about letting a city council decide for itself which businessman will best serve the community," he said. "It's that simple."

The bill prohibits the federal government from regulating cable TV, but states and localities could establish controls if they wished. Van Deerlin said, however, that he hoped local Reid Carroll has joined the news staff of 76 KFMB Radio, according to Fred Stemen, news director.

Carroll is a veteran newsman. Before joining 76 KFMB Radio he was director of news and public service at KCBQ in Santee. Earlier he had the same position with KSDO in San Diego.

He is a past president of the San Diego Sportscasters/Sportswriters Assn., and he is a member of both the U.S. Skiwriters Assn. and the Southern California Skiwriters Assn. He belongs to Sigma Delta Chi, a professional journalism society, and the National Newsman's Caucus.

The bill also would allow telephone companies to bring TV programs to their subscribers in competition with cable systems as well as broadcast-

Camping Council Seeks Donations

The Community Campership Council of San Diego County is nearing the end of its 1978 Campaign with $34,000 needed in donations to reach its goal. According to Bill Kolender, San Diego police chief and Campership Council's campaign chairman, there are 2500 underprivileged boys and girls in the County who need a summer camping experience.

Unless the Campership Council realizes its goal of $18,400 some of these deserving youngsters will have nothing to do over the summer months, Kolender said.

Donations received thus far will provide camperships for 1780 children to attend the Council's 13 member agencies camps in San Diego County, including the YMCA, Camp Fire Girls, Boy Scouts, and Jewish Community Center.

New camps have been included for the first time in 1978. They are Camp Stevens and the Community Youth Athletic Association's Camp Fritndship.

The Campership Council receives administrative support from United Way to help assure that donations from the public will be used solely for camping activities. The County of San Diego is providing $40,000 to help more than 1000 youngsters go to resident and day camps.

Other major donors include Convoir Contrib Club, Parker Foundation, Dr. Suess Foundation, Lions Club, California First Bank and the San Diego Police Association.

A full campership for one week at a resident camp costs $54. Partial camperships are $27 and day camp fees average $12. Last year 1580 children were sent to camp by the Campership Council, which is in its 10th year of operation.

For information about arranging camperships for needy children, phone the Campership office at 571-0119.

Contributions may be sent to the Community Campership Council, 7695 Cardinal ct., San Diego, CA 92123.

Convention Bureau Picks Ad Agency

Chapman Troast & Warwick, Inc., has been chosen as advertising agency for the San Diego Convention and Visitors Bureau.

The selection was made following two days of presentations by six local advertising agencies to a special selection committee, headed by Dr. Al Anderson, chairman of the Bureau's Marketing and Promotion Committee.

The Bureau currently operates with an advertising budget in excess of $300,000. The agency's presentation was made by Bob Troast, agency president.

Other members of the selection committee were Fred Ashman, managing director, Multi-Image Productions; Bill Myers, district marketing manager, Western Airlines; Walter Palmer, secretary-treasurer, Fabulous Innst of America; Jan Schultz, vice president, marketing, Sea World; Richard W. Tullar, advertising director, Union-Tribune Publishing Co.; and Dal L. Watkins, executive director, and Ronni Hannaman-Hoy, director of visitor marketing.

Job Placements Up

A total of 3,405 job placements were made in May by the California's State Employment offices in San Diego County, 42 per cent more than in May 1977.

The figure for May 1978 is almost 8 per cent higher than the April 1978 placement figure. Comparisons between the current fiscal year (October through May) and the same period in 1976-1977 show that placements increased 34 per cent.

Cranston Offers Help For Mobilehome Owners

A key Senate committee has approved a proposal by U.S. Senator Alan Cranston (D., Calif.) to extend rent subsidies under certain conditions to people who own their own mobile homes.

The proposal will benefit some 600,000 low-income people, many of them elderly. An estimated 90,000 of them live in California.

Present housing law provides subsidies for low-income tenants who pay more than 25% of their income for shelter. That includes people who live in mobile homes—but not if they own them.

That exclusion, Cranston told fellow members of the Senate Committee on Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs, is unfair to mobile home owners who rent the space on which they live.

He pointed out that if they sold their homes and then rented them, they could become eligible for a subsidy.

"That doesn't make much sense," Cranston said. "Why force people to sell their homes?"

Moreover, if they did, Cranston noted, their subsidy would be based not only on the rental of the site but on the cost of renting the mobile home as well.

Cranston proposed, and the committee agreed, to amend the housing authorization bill (S. 2637) to cover mobile home owners who rent their site, and to limit the amount of the subsidy to no more than the cost of the site rental.

Desert Birds Talk Topic

The Natural History Museum inaugurates a new Curators' Research Lecture series 7:30 p.m. Friday, June 30, when Dr. Amadeo Rea, curator of birds and mammals, talks on the "Desert Riparian Habitat."

Dr. Rea's lecture will focus on his current research interest, the comparison of historic and present-day bird life in desert riparian systems of the Gila River flood plain in south central Arizona.

Based on historic written accounts of early Spanish and English observers and the oral history of the Pima Indians, the diverse habitats of the Gila flood plain supported a large and varied bird population for over two thousand years.

Changing water patterns in the last century have altered the habitats and the associated bird life, according to Rea, and this has resulted in some fascinating changes in the bird life and insights into the effects of modern land management techniques on natural populations.

Tickets are $1, available at the museum auditorium before 7:30 p.m. For details call the

San Diego Zoo to Offer More Summer Courses

The San Diego Zoo is nearly doubling the size of its summer school program to provide increased educational opportunities for local school children who may have planned to attend the public schools' summer sessions.

Dr. Charles McLaughlin, the Zoo's education director, said 1400 more slots for elementary and junior high students are being added to the existing program.

Those who wish to register for the summer classes should contact the Zoo's education department immediately—either by calling 231-1515 or writing P.O. Box 551, San Diego, CA 92112. Enrollment is on a first-come, first-served basis.

The Zoo's summer school class schedule was originally planned to accommodate 1800 students, and those classes filled almost as soon as registration opened in April, McLaughlin said.

More than 200 students who are already on the registration waiting list will be the first enrolled in the expanded schedule, McLaughlin added.

The San Diego Unified School District has made space available in Roosevelt Junior High, just north of the Zoo, for the additional classes. Except for the space at Roosevelt, the Zoo will fund all costs of the program through students' registration fees.

Registration for the classes is $12 for the first child in a family and $8 for each additional child in the same family.

The classes meet for five consecutive half-day sessions. Students must be entering at least the third grade in the fall of 1978 to enroll.

Classes offered for prospective third graders will be an introduction to the classification of vertebrates. Fourth graders will study the importance of animals to man, and fifth graders will have a behind-the-scenes look at the operation of the Zoo.

Sixth graders will study environmental adaptations. All the elementary programs are available for one-week sessions from July 3 through Aug. 11.

The program for junior high students is a study of the interrelationships between plants and animals, including man, and is offered from July 17 through Aug. 11.

Senior high students will study how adaptations allow animals to survive in differing environments. There are openings for senior students in the weeks of June 26 and July 10 only.

Workshop To Teach Parents About Children's Speech Development

A 3 workshop series designed to teach parents how to help prevent their child from developing unnecessary speech and language problems is being offered by the Speech, Hearing and Neurosensory Center at Children's Hospital and Health Center.

The workshops, "Teach Your Child to Talk," will be held on Tuesday evenings, July 11, 18 and 25 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the private dining rooms at Children's.

According to Alexa Romain, acting chairman of the Speech Pathology Department at Children's and the program coordinator, the workshops will be directed to expectant parents and parents of children up to 5 years of age who would like to learn more about speech and language development.

"We feel many speech disorders can be prevented if parents know how to teach their child to talk and begin this teaching from the moment the child is born," said Ms. Romain. "The workshops will outline the stages of speech and language acquisition and will teach parents the proper way to stimulate their child's speech and language development."

Ms. Romain said parents will learn how to identify typical speech and language problems. They will be taught how to differentiate between a potential speech and language problem and that which is considered normal for their child's age.

Speech pathologists from Children's Hospital and Health Center will instruct parents on proper articulation along with demonstrating the best way to read a book to their child to encourage good speech and language development.

The workshops will include color slides, a movie, tape recordings, lectures and discussions. The book, "Teach Your Child to Talk - A Parent Guide," will be used in the program and is included in the workshop fee of $30 per person. To enroll in the workshop series or for more information, contact the Speech Pathology Department at Children's Hospital and Health Center, 292-3450.

WESTERN NATIONAL PARKS

FREE

thru July 10.

Prepared exclusively for Home Federal by Rand McNally. One per family, please, while supplies last.

Find your way to new places in the sun with Western National Parks, a special limited edition from Rand McNally, published exclusively for Home Federal. Pick up your free copy at any Home Federal office.

This beautiful 72-page book takes you on a tour of 19 parks throughout the West, from Mt. McKinley to the Carlsbad Caverns. Narrator Michael Frome tells a uniquely personal story of his special affection for Western America's national parks. And the photographs bring you into the textures and colors unique to this part of our country.

Be an armchair traveler... or use it as a guide to planning a vacation to the natural wonders you've always dreamed of seeing. Remember, you won't find this book in any store.

Discover great new savings opportunities too! Available now at Home Federal are the new 8% and T-Certificates™ you've been hearing so much about. Deposit $1,000 or more now for 8 to 10 years in one of our 8% accounts for a big 8.33% annual yield. Leave the principal and interest on deposit, and your money will double in 8 years and 8 months.

And our 26-week T-Certificate* always pays you a full quarter percent more than a 6-month treasury bill issued at the same time. And a full quarter percent more than any bank. For example, if the current rate on a 6-month treasury bill was 7%, our T-Certificate rate would be 7¼%. And this rate, when compounded for a full year, would represent a big 7.51% annual yield (if principal and interest were to remain on deposit at the 7¼% rate for one year). Just deposit a minimum $10,000. And there are never any service charges or fees to worry about.

Of course, we still offer all the high-interest savings plans we always have... at terms and amounts to suit your special goals and needs. Together, we can start planning for your futures in the sun today.

*Interest paid from date of deposit to date of withdrawal on T-Certificates. Check your local Home Federal office for the current rate.
